Form 990, Part III, Line 4b:

Conferences, meetings, education and community engagement programs HeritX continued to expand the Prevention Advocacy Network ("PAN") in 2018. The goal of the PAN is to bring the voice of the BRCA community to the research and development process, including decisions on research direction and priorities. PAN forums in 2018 were held in South Florida, in Kansas City in collaboration with Menorah Medical Center, and in Montreal in connection with the International Symposium on Hereditary Breast and Ovarian Cancer. The PAN is a community engagement platform that ensures that prevention research focuses on a future preventive therapy that will meet the needs of the community - not only in terms of the level of risk reduction but also in terms of convenience and side effects. Today, surgery is the only option for preventing BRCA cancers. Many women choose this route, removing breasts and ovaries and enduring the consequences of these surgeries. The PAN was used as a mechanism to provide patient input to the investigators in the area of inherited cancer prevention research. Through the PAN, families voice their hopes for a future without surgery. In addition to the PAN, HeritX extended its community outreach and education initiatives through multiple speaking engagements, community forums and educational programs. In 2018, HeritX conducted a panel discussion and forum on BRCA prevention research at the International Symposium on Hereditary Breast and Ovarian Cancer in Montreal, Canada, which generated new interest in the HeritX mission and research programs. In addition, HeritX collaborated with other organizations on educational programs about BRCA cancer, HeritX's mission, and BRCA cancer prevention research endeavors including with One in Forty, Rotary International, and Kehilat Israel. HeritX also hosted educational forums in Los Angeles and on Long Island.

990 Schedule F, Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Schedule F, Part I, Line 2	Foreign grants are made to organizations for research and vaccine development that are essential to the organization's mission of preventing inherited cancers. The Organization has done a considerable amount of due diligence review of these organizations in advance of making the grants to understand the activities and operations of these organizations. In addition, HeritX conducts independent scientific peer review on all research applications before making award decisions. The Organization requires regular financial and narrative reports from all grant recipients on the use of grant funds and the research conducted with the funds. Every grant contract contains specific research milestones and deliverables that are tracked throughout the research process. HeritX's reporting requirements includes reports on all research results and achievement of scheduled milestones. Annual financial reports and must provide details regarding monies spent in comparison to the grant budget. Ongoing research payments are only authorized when milestones have been achieved and satisfactory research reports are received and approved by the HeritX scientific team.

Return Reference	Explanation
Schedule J, Part I, Line 3	The Salaries of the Organization's CEO and Key Employees were based on review of the 990s of comparable organizations for comparable positions and a reasonable compensation study with comparability data and benchmarking by an independent consultant. Independent Board members reviewed the comparability data and reports and deliberated to determine the salaries of the CEO, key employees and highly compensated independent contractor. Written minutes of these meetings were contemporaneously recorded and are maintained by the Organization. Salary and job responsibilities are reflected in written contracts. This information is re-evaluated annually based on current market data. In addition, in 2018, the Organization retained an independent contractor as its first Chief Scientific Officer. The Chief Scientific Officer is a full-time employee of a university medical center with a research laboratory and medical practice related to the mission of the Organization. In determining the monthly retainer fee prior to retaining the Chief Scientific Officer, the Organization conducted a survey of similar medical research organizations and reviewed comparability data for both full-time and part-time Chief Scientific Officers and similar positions. The Organization also reviewed Guidestar and Charity Navigator national nonprofit compensation survey data. At a Board meeting prior to retaining the Chief Scientific Officer, the Board reviewed this comparability data and deliberated to determine an appropriate monthly fee for the Chief Scientific Officer's services. The Organization recorded its deliberations and decision in contemporaneously recorded minutes of the meeting and entered into a written contract with the Chief Scientific Officer for her services on those terms. The Chief Scientific Officer was thereafter elected to become a member of the Board of Trustees and elected to service as President of the Organization in her capacity as a Trustee.
